Hong Kong 28 September, 2009

Interbuild Far East (HK) Ltd. Hong Kong, www.interbuild.eu being the major provider of hardwood kitchen worktops and panels to Europe, has in cooperation with Biopin GmbH in Germany, developed a special, very high quality Hardwax oil for use on all Interbuild's Kitchen worktops, Panels, Flooring, Indoor and Garden Furniture giving one of the best natural surface treatments that today is available in the market place.

Biopin GmbH www.biopin.com is the biggest European manufacturer of oils, paints and resins that are based on pure natural biological ingredients and are also supplying their vegetable oils and waxes as components to many other paint factories and as finished products to big environment concerned retailers like IKEA.

Biopin has one of the world's biggest reactors for cooking raw linseed oil in Ireland, thereby being very competitive on this product which is the base ingredient in all types of oil finishes.

The Interbuild Hardwax oil is a mixture of many different natural oils and waxes which are cooked and produced in a special way by Biopin GmbH. It consist of micro molecules that penetrates deep into the wood giving an outstanding smooth surface with outstanding long term water repelling and scratch resistant properties as well as UV protection for outdoor applications.

Interbuild and Biopin has also reached an agreement on that Interbuild, on top of using this special oil on their own products, will be the exclusive distributor of the full range of Biopin products in the Asian market place.

Typical customers for the Biopin range of products are flooring manufacturers, indoor furniture manufacturers, outdoor furniture manufacturers, building material and paint retailers as well as Construction / Building companies.

Interbuild are currently establishing a separate sales organisation in Asia for this new venture and will have stock to deliver from in both Vietnam and China as from early December, 2009.
